It is not possible to exactly predict the effect of the Rights Issue on the control of the Company. There are various possible outcomes that may arise and these, in large part, will depend on the extent to which Eligible Shareholders take up their entitlements under the Rights Issue.

An outline of the most likely scenarios is as follows:

- (i) If all Eligible Shareholders take up their Entitlement for New Shares under the Rights Issue, the Rights Issue will have no effect on the control of the Company.
- (ii) In the more likely event that all Eligible Shareholders do not participate in the Rights Issue, any Eligible Shareholder that fails to take up their Entitlement for New Shares under the Rights Issue will have their percentage holding in the Company diluted by the issue of the remaining New Shares to the Underwriters.
- (iii) To the extent that any New Shares remains after allocation of under the Offer, that final shortfall of unallocated New Shares will then be taken up by the Underwriter pursuant to the terms of the Underwriting Agreement (Underwritten Shares).
- (iv) The Underwriters will be required to take up those Underwritten Shares. The potential effect of control that may arise as a result of the Underwriting Agreement is as follows:

	GTT

% holding following the Offer assuming no Shortfall Shares issued to the Underwriters	0%

1.10 Overseas Shareholders

This Offer Document does not, and is not intended to, constitute an offer of securities in any jurisdiction where, or to any person to whom, it would be unlawful to make such an offer or issue. This Offer Document has not been, nor will it be lodged, filed or registered with any regulatory authority under the securities laws of any other country outside Australia.

Shareholders who are not Eligible Shareholders are Ineligible Shareholders.

The Company has determined, in reliance of ASX Listing Rule 7.7.1, that it would be unreasonable to extend the Offer to Ineligible Shareholders, having regard to:

- (a) the small number of Ineligible Shareholders;
- (b) the small number and value of the New Shares which would be offered to Ineligible Shareholders if they were Eligible Shareholders; and
- (c) the cost of complying with the legal and regulatory requirements in the respective overseas jurisdictions.

Accordingly, the Offer is not being extended to any Shareholders outside Australia and New Zealand unless those Shareholders would be eligible under all applicable securities laws to receive an offer of, and be issued, New Shares under the Offer.

Where this Offer Document has been dispatched to an Ineligible Shareholder and where that jurisdiction's law, code or legislation prohibits or restricts in any way the making of the Offer, this Offer Document is provided for information purposes only.

Return of a duly completed Entitlement and Acceptance Form will be taken by the Company to constitute a representation that there has been no breach of those regulations. Shareholders resident in Australia or New Zealand holding shares on behalf of persons who are resident overseas should seek independent advice as to how they should proceed.

Issues of New Shares under the Offer will only be made after permission for their quotation on the ASX has been granted.

1.17 CHES

The Company will apply to ASX to participate in CHES, for those investors who have, or wish to have, a sponsoring stockbroker. Investors who do not wish to participate through CHES will be

3 RISK FACTORS

3.1 General

The Securities offered under this Offer Document should be considered speculative because of the nature of the Company's business.

Whilst the Directors recommend that Shareholders take up their Entitlement, there are however numerous risk factors involved. Some of these risks can be mitigated by the use of safeguards and appropriate systems and controls, but some are outside the control of the Company and cannot be mitigated. Accordingly, an investment in the Company carries no guarantee with respect to the payment of dividends, return of capital or price at which Securities will trade.

The following is a summary of the more material matters to be considered and should be read in conjunction with specific matters referred to in the Company's announcements and reports. However, the summary is not exhaustive and potential investors should examine the contents of this Offer Document in its entirety and consult their professional advisors before deciding whether to apply for the Shares.

Mineral exploration, development and mining activities are high-risk undertakings and there can be no assurance that any exploration or development activity in regard to the Company's current properties, or any properties that may be acquired in the future, will result in the discovery or exploitation of an economic resource. Mineral exploration, development and mining may be hampered by circumstances beyond the control of the Company and are speculative operations which by their nature are subject to a number of inherent risks, including but not limited to those listed below.

3.2 Exploration, geological and development risks

Mineral exploration and development is a speculative and high risk activity that requires large amounts of expenditure over extended periods of time and may be impeded by circumstances and factors beyond the Company's control. The Company's ability to succeed in this process involves (amongst other things):

- discovery and proving-up, or acquiring, an economically recoverable mineral resource or reserve;
- access to adequate capital throughout the acquisition/discovery and project development phases of a mineral exploration project;
- securing and maintaining title to such mineral exploration projects;
- obtaining required development consents and approvals necessary for the acquisition, exploration, development and production phases of the project; and
- accessing the necessary experienced operational staff, the applicable financial management and recruiting skilled contractors, consultants and employees.

There can be no assurance that forthcoming exploration programmes, or subsequent exploration programmes for its Pearl Bar copper-silver prospect in Western Australia or any other exploration projects that may be acquired in the future, will result in the realisation of the Company's objectives such as the discovery of an economic mineral resource. Even if an apparently viable mineral resource is identified, there is no guarantee that it can be economically exploited. Further, conclusions drawn during mineral exploration are subject to the uncertainties associated with all sampling techniques and to the risk of incorrect interpretation of geological, geochemical, geophysical, drilling and other data.

3.3 Operational & technical risks

The operations of the Company may be affected by various factors, including but not limited to:

- failure to locate or identify mineral deposits;

- failure to achieve predicted grades in exploration and mining;
- operational and technical difficulties encountered in mining;
- insufficient or unreliable infrastructure, such as power, water and transport;
- difficulties in commissioning and operating plant and equipment;
- mechanical failure or plant breakdown;
- unanticipated metallurgical problems which may affect extraction costs;
- adverse weather conditions;
- industrial and environmental accidents;
- industrial disputes and labour shortages; and
- unexpected shortages or increases in the costs of consumables, spare parts, plant and equipment.

3.4 Tenure risks

Interests in exploration and mining tenements in Australia are governed by State legislation and are evidenced by the granting of leases or licences. Each lease or licence is for a specific term and carries with it annual expenditure and reporting conditions as well as other conditions that must be complied with. The Company's project tenements are currently in good standing, however the Company could lose title to, or its interest in, its mining tenements if conditions of grant are not met or if expenditure commitments are not satisfied.

In relation to the Company's activities in Peru, while there are no stated minimum annual exploration expenditure commitments, evidence needs to be presented that reasonable progress in the advancement of the development of concessions has been made, and annual rental payments and reporting obligations need to be complied with. If insufficient progress is made or if obligations are not complied with then the Company could lose its interest in its Peruvian concessions.

3.5 Native title and heritage risks

The Company's tenements are subject to common law and native title rights of indigenous Australians. Legitimate native title rights are recognised and protected under the Native Title Act 1993 (Cth) (Native Title Act). Further, certain areas containing sacred sites or sites of cultural significance to indigenous people are also protected under state legislation. The Company's ability to utilise this land and to conduct its exploration activities will be subject to such terms and conditions as the Company may achieve through negotiations with traditional owners or by legal determination.

3.6 Future capital needs and additional funding

The funds raised by the Offer will be used to carry out the Company's objective as detailed in this Offer Document and the Company's announcements to ASX. The Company's ability to raise further capital (equity or debt) within an acceptable time, of a sufficient amount and on terms acceptable to the Company will vary according to a number of factors, including prospectivity of projects (existing and future), the results of exploration, feasibility studies, development and mining, stock market and industry conditions and the price of relevant commodities and exchange rates.

No assurances can be given that future funding will be available to the Company on favourable terms (or at all). If adequate funds are not available on acceptable terms the Company may not be able to further develop its projects and it may impact on the Company's ability to continue as a going concern.

Section 1.1 outlines how the Company intends to use funds raised under the Offer.

3.7 Exploration

Investors should understand that resource exploration and development is by its nature a high risk undertaking. There can be no assurance that the Company's exploration of its Pearl Bar copper-silver prospect in Western Australia or any other exploration projects that may be acquired in the future will result in the discovery of a significant mineral resource. Even if a significant mineral resource is identified, there can be no guarantee that it can be economically exploited.

3.8 General Economic Climate

Factors such as inflation, currency fluctuation, interest rates and supply and demand have an impact on opening costs, commodity prices and stock market prices. The Company's future revenues and Share price may be affected by these factors, as well as by fluctuations in the price of gold, nickel or other minerals, which are beyond the Company's control.

3.9 Commodity price fluctuations

The Company is seeking to develop projects which will be reliant on the prices of various commodities including copper, gold and nickel. Commodity prices fluctuate and are affected by numerous factors beyond the control of the Company. These factors include worldwide and regional supply and demand for commodities, forward selling by producers and production cost levels, general world economic conditions and the outlook for interest rates, inflation and other economic factors on both a regional and global basis. These factors may have a positive or negative effect on the Company's exploration, project development and production plans and activities, together with the ability to fund those plans and activities.

3.10 New Project Risk

As part of its business strategy, the Company may make acquisitions of or significant investments in other resource or non-resource projects. Projects may be located in Australia or overseas. Should a suitable new business opportunity be identified, it will then need to be assessed for its technical, legal and commercial suitability. The Directors intend to consider whether there is a favourable risk-reward equation and whether an asset or project has quality management in place or has the ability to attract such management. There is no guarantee that any proposed acquisition of a new business or project will be completed or will be successful. Identification of a business or a project can take considerable time and consume significant cash resources.

3.11 Stockmarket Conditions

The market price of the Company's Securities may be subject to varied and unpredictable influences on the market for equities in general and resources stocks in particular.

3.12 Environment Risks

Mining is an industry which has become subject to increasing environmental responsibility and liability. The potential liability is an ever-present risk. The use and disposal of chemicals in the mining industry is under constant legislative scrutiny and regulation.

3.13 Speculative Nature of Investment

The above list of risk factors ought not to be taken as exhaustive of the risks faced by the Company or by investors in the Company. The above factors, and others not specifically referred to above, may in the future materially affect the financial performance of the Company and the value of the Securities offered under this Offer Document. Therefore, the Securities offered pursuant to this Offer Document carry no guarantee with respect to the payment of dividends, returns of capital of the market value of the Securities.

Potential investors should consider that the investment in the Company is speculative and should consult their professional advisers before deciding whether to apply for Securities.
